

Waterford Estates

Story Comments

Share Print Font Size:

0

Share

Recommend

Be the first of your friends to recommend this.

Posted: Saturday, July 30, 2011 10:45 pm

0 comments

“Seventy-six Trombones” marched across the Crighton Theatre stage recently with Stage Right’s hilarious presentation of Meredith Wilson’s “The Music Man.”

Directed by MANNY CAFFEO, this production had folks humming along, with such favorites as “Goodnight Ladies,” which was masterfully sung by JOE SWANEY, MATT MEALEY, DARRELL BASON & JERRY MACCLAREN (all members of a Barbershop quartet named The Boys of Spring) and “Till There Was You,” a beautifully sung rendition by Marian (portrayed by JENNY HOOFNAGLE/GINNY MENDEZ) and Harold (played by the extremely talented MIKE ANDERSON). The rest of the cast did an equally masterful job which equated to an entertaining evening. “The Music Man” has its last show today at the Crighton. For more information contact Stage Right at 936-44-7469, ext. 201 or check the website at www.stage-right.org.

– Marie Underdown

Send news to marie.a.underdown@lonestar.edu.